CHILIAN REVOLUTION.

REPORT FROM THE AMERICAN ADMIRAL ON THE SITUATION.

The Insurgents Concentrating Around the Nitrate Ports—The Rebel Navy Does Not Amount to Much—Hot Weather in the Bay City.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 25.—The navy department has received a report from Admiral McCann, on board the flagship Baltimore, dated Iquique, Chile, May 25, saying that there has been no military or naval operations of importance in the north provinces recently. He says: English Admiral Hotham has informed me that all the revolutionary squadrons have gone north from Caldera, and that only 700 or 800 men were left to garrison Caldera and Copiago. Since the loss of the Blanco Encalada most of the insurgent forces are concentrating about the nitrate ports. The only efficient vessels remaining to the insurgents are the Huascar, Esmeralda and Almirante Cochrane. The remainder of the navy is made up of a few old gunboats and armed transports, the broken down and worn out remains of the Chilian navy. There is, therefore, little or no probability of a demonstration by water against Valparaiso or other southern ports by the revolutionary fleet, but, on the contrary, the government torpedo cruisers Almirante Lynche and Almirante Condell and the armed transport Imperiali keep the insurgent vessels in motion and the nitrate ports in a constant state of alarm by threatened attacks. On the 19th instant one of the revolutionists' torpedo launches was accidentally blown up by its own torpedo, and sank immediately, drowning two and mortally wounding four of her crew.

The Condell attacked Taltal on the 21st, burning the government buildings and custom houses. On the 25th the Cochrane, Magallenes and Amazonas left Iquique and stood to the southward to protect that locality. The speed of the Condell and Imperiali is such that they can easily elude pursuit and may turn up most unexpectedly at any port.

The Floods.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, June 27.—Mail Clerk Thresher, who went East from this city on Thursday night on the Chicago, St. Paul & Milwaukee passenger train, arrived here yesterday. He reports the train is water bound at Dornicky, and says the track was flooded to such an extent at that point that it is impossible to make any progress. He left the train, carrying his letter mail pouch, and started back to this city. At some points the water was up to his neck. He says the low lands are flooded as far as the eye can see with water from one to four feet deep on the first floors of the dwellings. Farmers have moved out to the hills and higher ground. Although there were innumerable houses surrounded by water, none of them have been washed away.

The loss by the flood in Sutherland is placed at $75,000 to $100,000. The track of the Illinois Central is submerged for a distance of 75 miles. Railroad officials estimate the loss at $100,000. The news from Correctionville is to the effect that the place is still under water. In Aurelia the water is six feet deep in the streets. Later reports from Correctionville show that the reports of damage there are in no wise exaggerated All the houses in the lower part of town have been washed away. Many people had narrow escapes from drowning. The only loss of life reported is that of two children. Five bridges near the town were carried away.

Rudyard Kipling Sails.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Rudyard Kipling sails for home by the steamer Umbria to-day. Since his arrival here a week ago he has been resting quietly with friends at a little village on the Island. He says he simply came over for the sake of the ocean voyage, and had no intention of making a protracted visit. He is rather delicate looking but he laughed at the exaggerated accounts of his ill-health that have been extensively circulated, and says that he is still worth a dozen men. He is greatly pleased with the kindness he has received, socially, at the hands of the American people, and is desirous of obliterating the unpleasant impression left by some of the statements in his recently published letters. When he will revisit America, he says he does not know.

Stole a Franchise.

CHICAGO, June 27.—Last night the city council repealed an ordinance which had been surreptitiously rushed through the council 10 days ago, by which the Chicago & Northern Pacific Railway was granted 50 miles of way within the city limits, and conferring other privileges of almost inestimable value. Commissioner of Public Works, J. Frank Aldrich, made an explanation, denying, as was charged, that he is responsible for the underhand work. It is said that the repeal of the ordinance is nullified in consequence of its having been confirmed by the city authorities and conferred upon the road.

Secretary Noble Resigns.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The World says Secretary Noble has returned to Washington. His visit here was a short one. Secretary Noble's resignation as head of the Department of the Interior is in the hands of President Harrison, remarked a friend of the Secretary at the Fifth Avenue Hotel this evening. The President, however, will probably refuse to accept the resignation until next fall, when he will appoint Secretary Noble as one of the new judges of the United States Circuit Court.

Mrs. Logan Will Not Marry.

OMAHA, June 27.—The reported arrangements for the marriage of Pension Attorney Lemon and Mrs. Gen. Logan were denied to-day in a card issued by a prominent Grand Army man, a close friend of the Logan family. Before Mrs. Logan sailed she wrote him a letter denying that she had any intention of marrying Lemon, and said she would never marry.

Young Men Drowned.

BUFFAO, N. Y., June 27.—Lynn E. Nash and Burt L. Bousted, both about 21 years of age, were drowned last night while bathing in the lake. The bodies were recovered this morning.

The Doctor's Report.

OTTAWA, June 26.—Dr. A. C. Smith, superintendent of the New Brunswick lazaretto, has made a report on his investigations in the cases of leprosy among the Chinese of Victoria. He says he found three lepers in advanced stages of the disease. Two men who had been associating with them were likely suffering, but the symptoms are not sufficiently developed to enable an accurate diagnosis to be made. All are segregated at Darcy Island and will be properly cared for. Dr. Smith was convinced, from enquiry and investigation, that there are no other cases of leprosy in the province.

LARGE FAMILY.

The Remarkable Record of an American Woman in Peru.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Advices from Lima, Peru, under date of May 28th, contain the following: Mrs. Frances L. Crosby, the wife of a prominent American citizen residing in this city, died on the 19th inst. in child-birth at the age of 38 years. The remarkable feature of this sad occurence is that Mrs. Crosby had given birth to 28 children, 15 of which, the youngest a babe of one year, are left to mourt her loss. She was a Peruvian by birth, and was married to Mr. Crosby at the age of 14 years. The almost incredible record of having given birth to 28 children in 24 years is explained by the fact that twins delighted the father on several occasions, and that once triplets made their appearance. Mr. Crosby has for many years represented the house of Stevens, Corwin & Co., New York, in the management of a wholesale manufacturing agency handling American goods. He is still in the prime of life, prominent in social circles, and has for many years been the captain of the Victoria fire company.

BALLOONS WILL WORK.

First Step in the Rain-Making Process Has Succeeded.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Some interesting experiments were made near this city to-day in the way of carrying out the provisions of the agricultural appropriation bill to ascertain the possibility of producing rain in the arid regions. Prof. Dyhrenfurth, as special agent of the agricultural department, exploded, at a high altitude, several balloons inflated with hydrogen gas. The concussions were of great force, the first balloon being exploded at a height of 800 feet. The balloons were held by wires and when they reached a sufficient height a battery was applied, which fired fuses in the neck of the balloon and exploded the gas. It is the first time hydrogen gas has ever been manufactured in any quantity. The object of the experiment was to determine the availability of the apparatus both for manufacturing the gas and exploding it. The machinery is still crude and imperfect, but its success is assured. Whether the purpose for which it was designed, that of causing rain, can be secured, remains to be demonstrated. The balloons used to-day held 255 cubic feet of gas. The appropriation is small and will not go beyond the experimental stage, but after July 1st a larger appropriation will be available and some satisfactory results may be reached.

INCREASING HER ARMY.

AUSTRIA TO BE READY IN CASE OF EMERGENCY.

Public Sympathy With the Striking Bricklayers—A War Fund Being Collected by the Strikers—The Arabs of Yemen Assert Their Independence.

LONDON, June 27.—A Vienna dispatch says that this year will witness a great addition to the military expenses of Austria. This increase is made necessary by the formidable attitude of Russia near the Austrian frontier, and the probability that the Russian forces in that direction will be increased instead of diminished. Austria proposes practically to put Russia in a state of military occupation with a force sufficient to confront an unexpected attack. Permanent barracks are to be erected in Caracow, Pezeszow, Tarnopol and Prezmyse, and other places, to take the place of temporary barracks put up during the war scare of about three years ago. The temporary barracks were of timber; the new barracks will be of stone, and will cost many million florins. New fortifications are also to be constructed for the defence of places now open to sudden attack. The artillery in Galicia is to be raised to a war footing, and new light repeating rifles are to be served out to troops and smokeless powder provided for heavy ordnance. Altogether, when these costly preparations are completed Russia will find herself face to face with a well organized force, in strength and equipment at least equal to her own. The Russian troops on the Austrian frontier are constantly being augmented in numbers both of cavalry and infantry, drafted mostly from the Caucasians.

THE BERLIN BRICKLAYERS.

Berlin advices state that the public sympathy is very generally with the bricklayers in their demand for 60 pfennings an hour (about 14 cents). In the case of all employers not now paying that amount, the bricklayers are collecting for a fund they call their "war fund," and which is intended to support them should a prolonged controversy with employers make necessary an appeal to the public.

ARABIA REBELLIOUS.

The latest news from Constantinople is to the effect that the rebellious Arabs of Yemen have defeated the troops of the Sultan and mean to assert their independence. The insurrection extoo far into the interior of Arabia. That country itself is one of the most troublesome possessions of the Porte and very little net revenue is derived from it. Owing to poverty the sultan is unable to send the large force that is needed to put down the insurrection, and as the uprising is said to be spreading, there is much anxiety in Turkey lest the whole of Arabia be lost to the Sultan.

JOHN BULL PUTS IN A CLAIM.

A Calcutta dispatch says that the government of British India has formally made a claim to part of the Mikong valley, now in dispute between France and Siam. It is claimed that the part in question formerly belonged to the kingdom of Burmah, annexed not long ago by the British.

THE KAISER AND THE CLERGY.

The German Kaiser, to show his esteem for religion, has bestowed on all the Protestant superintendent's general, a dignity in the Lutheran church corresponding very much to that of bishop in the Anglican church. Large gold crosses to be worn by them when officiating, on black ribbons around the neck. This act of grace has greatly strengthened the Kaiser in the opinion of the clergy.

EFFECT OF PARNELL'S MARRIAGE.

The marriage of Mr. Parnell and Mrs. O'Shea has made a deep impression in Ireland, and one generally favorable to the Irish leader. The anti-Parnellites were noticeably disappointed when the news came to London, as some of them had been declaring all along that Mr. Parnell never would marry Mrs. O'Shea. The anti-Parnellites claim that Mr. Parnell has abandoned the home rule principle and is making the struggle in Ireland a question of one man's dictation; that Mr. Parnell will gradually drop out of politics and devote himself to Kitty and her fortune.

THE FRENCH IN MADAGASCAR.

A Zanzibar dispatch says that grave friction exists between the French and native governments of Madagascar. The interference of French residents at the capital, and the arrogance of French missionaries, many of whom belong to the Protestant denominations, and do not propose to recognize any state religion. The French residents had been insulted, and French merchants maltreated by the angry people, so much so that the French protectorate is in serious peril of extinction. The natives everywhere are excited, and Europeans going any distance into the wilds are in danger of losing their lives.

Lady Brooke Striking Back.

LONDON, June 27.—The Pall Mall Gazette, referring to certain statements published by the society papers, connecting the name of Lady Brooke with the recent legal enquiry arising from indidents occurring at Tranby-Croft says: "It is understood that Lord and Lady Brooke have instructed Geo. Lewis to take criminal proceedings against any paper which circulated those unfounded and malicious libels."

Ironclad Aground.

BERLIN, June 27.—During the naval manœuvres at Danzig yesterday, the ironclad Kaiser grounded. This morning she was floated, but seriously damaged. She may have to be taken out of commission.

NANAIMO NEWS.

NANAIMO, June 27.—The closing of the High School yesterday was the crowning event among the schools, and the deft fingers of the young ladies had been busy at work to prepare a beautiful scene for the visitors by way of decorating the rooms. Nor were the boys behind in this respect, for several specimens of drawing were exhibited on the blackboard that would be worthy of those who get their living by such work, so artistically was the sketching done. The prizes were awarded in order of the position the scholars hold in the school: Christina A. Duncan, awarded the Governor-General's medal; Miss Hilbert, Miss Brethour, Miss Webb, Miss Fulton, Alex. Poole, J. C. McGregor, J. Lukey, G. A. Bate, W. Bevilockway, Mary G. Dobeson, Eda Emma Stannard, James McGregor, Eva Le Feuve, John Frazer, Maggie Frazer, George May, Howard Musgrave. Mr. A. Shaw (trustee) after distributing the prizes expressed his surprise that he was the only trustee present during the last three days, but he was glad to see the Rev. Mr. McRae present, who would kindly test the ability of the scholars in the several branches of their education. Mr. McRae, after putting a number of questions and receiving the correct answers, said he never sat in a High School where he saw such young scholars, and he felt proud of the ability the juveniles displayed. He told them not to work too hard next term, and said the teachers were sometimes too anxious to push their scholars onward. He was informed Nanaimo was credited with passing younger scholars, both for the High school and for teachers, than any other city in the Province. He informed the school that he intended to take more interest in their work next year, and began by promising to give a prize for mathematics.

Three of the scholars then stepped forward and presented Mr. Hunter, principal, with a handsome dressing case and two handsome enlarged framed photographs of himself and wife, accompanied by the following address:

To Walter Hunter, Esq., B.A., Principal:

We, the undersigned pupils attending this school, beg to thank you most sincerely for your untiring efforts to forward us in our studies. Your gentlemanly bearing is only equalled by your kindly manner of imparting and enforcing instruction.

In token of our appreciation of your talents and zeal, we beg to present you with the following mark of our esteem:

We also pray that Mrs. Hunter and yourself may live long and happily, and in the hereafter enjoy the rewards of a well spent life.

Mr. Hunter, in rising to reply, showed traces of deep feeling. He thanked the scholars for their present and said: "Sometimes we have a little unpleasantness, but I will just say what an old professor said, 'Let the past be the past.' We have spent many happy days together and we have worked very hard and I have no cause to complain of any of you and I hope you will all enjoy the holidays and those returning may come back with renewed vigor.

THE GIRLS' OWN PAPER.

THE PAPER READ AT THE EXAMINATION YESTERDAY.

Editorial Notes From the Pens of Young Lady Pupils—The Questions of the Day Discussed—Original Conundrums—An Article on Iceland.

The Girls Own Paper which was read at the closing examinations of the High school yesterday afternoon, is very prettily gotten up, having a picture of the Gorge painted on it. The following are copies of the articles contributed to it by the young ladies:

EDITORIAL.

Now that all the arduous tasks which have occupied our minds for the last six months, are over, we assemble here to-day to bid farewell to our kind teachers and to hear the result of our examination. A spirit of good feeling and harmony has existed throughout the term between the teachers and pupils, and only once was our happiness sullied, when we were called upon to mourn the death of one of our brightest and most promising fellow pupils, Addie McConnell, who was taken from us in her own spring time and the spring time of the year. It was the will of our Heavenly Father to take her to Himself; we must comfort ourselves with the assurance

> That there is a day of sunny rest,
> For every dark and stormy night,
> Grief may bide an evening guest,
> But joy shall come with early light.

But what changes were taking place in the outside world when we were burning the midnight lamp? Our fair Dominion is bitterly weeping over the death of one of her greatest and most distinguished sons, Sir John Macdonald. The death of this illustrious man was the saddest news that has ever been conveyed to the people of Canada and he is, now that he is dead, entitled to the highest honors his country can bestow upon him. He was the means of transforming a discontented population into a happy and united nationality. He gave a decided impetus to the development of Canada when he conceived and put into operation the idea of constructing a railway from ocean to ocean. He infused into the Canadians a national sentiment which lead them to work with a will to develop the vast resources of what had been supposed by many to be an uninviting country, with but few valuable products. Under the great premier's regime manufactures were fostered to a great extent. We are deeply sorry that Canada's "Grand Old Man" is dead.

A much vexed question that has occupied the minds for some time past is the Behring Sea trouble, a dispute between the American and Home Government about the boundary of their separte sealing grounds in Behring Sea. As British Columbia is nearly concerned in fur seals, this suspension of sealing operations will prove a great loss to many of her interested citizens.

During the past year we have seen an empire resolved into a republic, territories becoming States, and districts provinces. We have seen venturous men trying to reach the North Pole by means of their air ships to fathom its mysteries. We have seen that wonderful man Edison inventing a machine by which a whole opera can be reproduced in our own homes. Such have been the changes that have been taking place in the world around us. Nor has our own fair little city been idle. Victoria has been making rapid strides, extending her boundaries and increasing her population. Large and costly residences and stores have been erected, an electric tramway has been constructed, to accommodate the enterprising citizens of Oak Bay. We have been developing our vast resources and making our name famous generally.

As we are now about to part for the holidays, to take our separate roads, we bid farewell to our kind and painstaking teachers, sincerely thanking them for their kindness to us during the term, and hoping that their well-earned holidays will bring them rest and pleasure. To those of our fellow pupils who depart from our midst to-day, we bid a happy and hopeful farewell, feeling that the world's work of each will be such that in after days we will proudly say, "He was one of us."

Con.—A believer in the transmigration of souls would find the ghosts of what explorers within the classic shades of the High School?

Ans.—Why the ghosts of Ross, of Cooke, of Grant, and of Livingston, of course.

THE NUMBER THREE.

There is much superstitious regard for the number three in the popular mind, and the third repitition of anything is generally looked upon as a success. Three was called by Pythagoras the perfect number; thus we notice the trident of Neptune, the three-forked lightning of Jove, and the three-headed dog of Pluto. The idea of the unity is not confined to Christianity, but occurs in other religions. In Mythology, also, we find three fates, three furies and three graces, and coming nearer to our own time, Shakespeare introduces his three witches. In public house signs three plays an important part, for we often meet with "Three cups," "Three jolly sailors," "Three feathers" and "Three bells." In nursery rythm the number is not unknown, for most of us can call to mind the three wise men of Gotham who took a sea voyage in a bowl, and those immortal three blind mice, which, curtailed by the farmer's wife, still live green in the memory. Is there, I wonder, some occult power in the number that doctors inwardly order their noxious draughts to be well shaken and taken three times a day.

Con.—To what passage in scripture have the aldermen of Victoria given their unanimous consent, and studied so thoroughly as to have it at their fingers' ends?

Ans.—"There went out a decree in the days of Claudius Cæsar that all the world should be taxed."

ICELANDS ANIMALS AND PLANTS.

Iceland is not the inhospitable land that many imagine it to be. The following list of animals which roam its shores will bear out the assertion. In Iceland are found the common dog, cat, rat, mouse, goat, sheep, ox, horse pig, in fact all the domestic animals of our own country. Then they have the fox, the bear, the reindeer, the walrus, many kinds of whales porpoises and seals. Iceland's bird family includes eagles, owls, ravens, crows, pigeons, starlings, blackbirds, wrens and swallows, a list longer than British Columbia could furnish, and in addition to these, Iceland is the ancestral home of the eider-duck, which, in a commercial point of view, is the most valuable bird in existence. The great auk, an extinct species, also claimed Iceland for its home. Iceland is rich in fish. In its fiords are found dog fish, sharks, sturgeon, eels, haddock, cod, halibut, plaice, sprats, salmon and herrings innumerable, besides these small fry. Iceland whales are plentiful and much sought after. Iceland can boast, not as the text books would have us believe, of only a few stunted trees and mosses. The following boquet could be gathered there in summer. For the background of our bunch we will take a dozen varieties of variegated grasses. Then buttercups, prolets and pansies, and walking along a little further we gather clover blossoms, red and white, a lady's slipper and a wild strawberry blossom. Yes! wild strawberries in frozen Iceland. Another old favorite we find the mountain ash or rowan. We will add a bunch of its red berries to our collection and twine among them a sprig of ivy and some cacktus from this drooping willow. Now a blue bell, and for old sakes, sake two homely and familiar faces—the thistle and the dandelion. Next in sight is a bright red cockscomb and a bit of wild thyme. No sooner have we added these to our bunch than we come to heather, real Scotch heather, and at its feet, nestling amongst the delicate green are primroses, and all these in frozen Iceland.

THE OLD, OLD STORY.

> The girls, the girls, they are sitting,
> While the hours, the hours are quickly flitting,
> The clock, the clock, on four is striking,
> And the girls, by their looks, show no great liking.
>
> Their mothers at home so anxiously wait
> For they can't imagine what makes them late,
> As the hours pass on more anxious they grow,
> 'Tis only natural for mothers you know.
>
> Yet still o'er their books the girls are poring,
> While the teacher cries in tones stentorian,
> These lessons, these lessons, must all be gone through
> Before you leave this building any of you.
>
> As the days, the days, are onward flying,
> 'Tis a common sight to see homeward hieing,
> Grown up pupils in the dim fading light,
> With books on their arms and faces ashen white.
>
> Oh! teachers, your mercy we now are imploring,
> Oh! spare the juveniles under your care,
> Or a brain fever epidemic o'er us will be soaring,
> And your bright class of pupils will vanish to —where?

BEACON HILL PARK.

The great attraction to the people of Victoria on a holiday is the park at Beacon Hill. Here in summer crowds of people may be seen on Sunday afternoon listening to the music of the band or strolling leisurely along the pleasant walks and drives. One of the chief features is Goodacre lakelet spanned by a pretty little bridge and bordered by flower beds. To children and Chinamen the great attraction is the zoo. Animals of various kinds are here, from the bear to the rabbit, from the eagle to the bluejay. At one time a seal sported in the waters of the old lake but the balmy air and Italian skies of Victoria could not have agreed with him, and poor Joey has gone where he never more will be troubled by hearing the Behring Sea question discussed, where no prying walking stick will be thrust insinuatingly between his much enduring ribs, and where no tobacco smoke nor cigar ends will be presented to his too confiding nostrils. Poor Joey! "choked to death by a Tommy cod!" It is indeed a touching epitaph. Peace to his ashes.

> We have a pupil here
> Who never sat in Peter's chair,
> Neither a triple crown did wear,
> And yet she is a Pope!
>
> No benifice she ever sold,
> Nor did forgive a sin for gold,
> Nor wondrous wise nor very old,
> And yet she is a Pope!

19TH CENTURY EXAMINATIONS.

1. If it takes an examiner 5 feet high and 2 feet broad three and a half hours to eat his dinner, how long did it take 2000 Chinamen to build their great wall? (Geometrical solution preferred.)
2. Give a list of all the future Kings and Queens of England, and the chief event in the reign of each. (Two extra marks for neatness.)
3. Who was Oliver Cromwell and why? What was his father's maiden name?
4. Did the Chactaw Indian who told Jacques Cartier about the St. Lawrence believe in Home Rule? By how much?
5. What is the population of Zululand, Sicamous and the Island of Saghalien? Answer correct to 12 decimal places.
6. What hygienic parallel does Cutter draw between the city of Cologne and the wolf at the park.
7. If the front wheel of Spencer's safety makes 901¼ revolutions in going two blocks on Monday morning, what is the exact time by the McKillican clock when Hardie gets to school next Wednesday fortnight?

Con.—Why are the 1st and 2nd Divisions of the High School more ambitious than the third?

Ans.—Because while the 1st and 2nd Divisions have during the term sent forth brilliant pupils to grace the legal fraternity of the city the 3rd Division still contents itself with its Hardy Porters and its Brown Cooks.

Little Boy—Uncle, do you understand the rule of three?

Uncle—Certainly, my boy! I lived with my mother-in-law, my father-in-law and my wife.

Wasn't that a grand quotation used by the "wise" man from the east in the pulpit last Sunday. It was from Shakespeare, and runs thus: "She never told her love but let concealment, like a worm in the mud, eat off her damaged cheek."

Con.—Why should the High School pupils be deeply interested in Horticulture?

Ans.—Because we number among ourselves a perfect Lettuce (Lettice), a number of Sweet Williams and a highly cultivated little Berry.

THE YAWNING GRAVE ROBBED OF ITS PREY!

A Condition That Seemed Desperate and Hopeless!

TRUTH IS MIGHTY AND MUST PREVAIL!

A Lady's Tail of Suffering!

The thriving and flourishing town of Paris, Ont., now an important manufacturing centre, is at present considerably agitated concerning a most remarkable cure recently effected. The lady, who was snatched from the brink of the yawning grave, is well known, and the truthfulness of her statements vouced for by the pastor of her church.

In connection with this wonderful event we may remark that aids such as mesmerism, hypnotism or electricity were not sought or used; neither was the lady, in her intense sufferings and weak condition, dragged or carried to some miraculous Shrine or Mecca, in order to offer her adorations to some canonized saint.

The facts of this remarkable cure are too interesting to the general public to be lightly passed over; and we consider it advisable, in the interests of the weaker sex, who naturally suffer more than men, to give a few of the salient points in connection with this wonderous escape from suffering and death, in the hope that others may be directed to the same simple, yet effectual, path of safety, before they are obliged to experience the same trials and vicissitudes, or draw so near the portals of that terrible abyss, death.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Kitchen, the subject of this article, is a lady of great intelligence and good education, and one of the few whom Providence has caused to pass safely through the fiery furnace of afflictions and tribulations, that she might serve a high and noble purpose, and consummate a grand work amongst the thousands of her sex who, at the present time, are silent, weak and despondent sufferers; and many of them lingering without a cheering ray of hope to illumine their dark and dreary pilgrimage through the desert land of pain and suffering.

Mrs. Kitchen's case was considered by all who were acquainted with the facts, to be one of the most extraordinary, most baffling and most desperate ever submitted to the notice of physicians. She was apparently beyond all human aid; and the insatiable grave seemed to show a longing—an intense desire to receive her into its cold bosom. Indeed, so great were her sufferings at times, that she actually became frantic; and in her calmer moments she often wished for death, as a means of release from suffering.

Death at times to many mortals is a sweet deliverer when hope has fled forever.

The guiding hand that had led Mrs. Kitchen through sorrow's mazes long years ago was still within hers, and gave to her light to seek that "balm" which had been provided for the healing of the sick of all nations. A life-giving fountain suddenly bubbled up before her, like the refreshing waters of an oasis in a great Sahara. She was told to drink of it. She did so, and immediately a new life seemed to dawn upon her, bringing with it new-born aspirations of hope and joy.

To give the reader an idea of what Mrs. Kitchen suffered, as well as her experiences up to the present time, we have, from a long letter of hers, selected extracts which must speak forcibly to all who read them carefully.

She says:

I have been an acute sufferer for 23 years from neuralgia in the head in its worst forms, and for 12 years have suffered from the same disease in the back.

Indeed, my sufferings date back to the time my first child was born, 24 years ago. God himself only knows what agonies I suffered in those long years; they are impossible to describe, more especially since I came to Canada in 1873. My nervous system broke down so that I was almost unable to walk across the floor; and for years I could not walk from my house to town and back, less than a mile. When I stood on my feet I felt as if the pain would drag me to the ground. These very severe attacks would come on every week or 10 days, causing intense sufferings; and at times I became so frantic that I had to be put under the influence of chloroform; indeed, I often wished I could lie down and die.

I had been treated by five eminent doctors, and was in the infirmary for some time, but only occasionally got a little relief. A specialist from New York, who was here, one day visited me, and told me it would be a very complicated case, and that very little could be done for me. I went to Toronto and was under a doctor for three months, and took his medicines without any good results. I was also a great sufferer from insomnia for years, all the result of suffering, work and worry, and for nights never closed my eyes.

Three years ago I commenced the use of Paine's Celery Compound, and I have now less pain than for 20 years past, and the benefit I have received from the use of this remedy is greater than all the combined efforts and medicines of the doctors who have attended me for years.

In reading over the book which accompanies each bottle of Celery Compound, I may say that I can endorse every word of what it says. The benefit I have derived from using Paine's Celery Compound is so great that I can now walk better than for years past; sleep better, and my back has not been so free from pain for 20 years.

I would advise all who are suffering to use this great remedy.

I am still using it, and, with God's blessing, I hope to be entirely cured.

ELIZABETH ANN KITCHEN,
Paris, Ont.

Mrs. Kitchen refers us to the Rev. Alfred Brown, Episcopal minister in Paris. Rev. Mr. Brown says:

I hereby certify that Mrs. E. A. Kitchen, of this town, is well known to me, and that every statement of her's is worthy of credence.

ALFRED BROWN.

The dark clouds have passed away; the silver lining appears; and now in its effulgent splendor the bright sun shines out, and Mrs. Kitchen's life is no longer shrouded in darkness and misery. That life-giving remedy, Paine's Celery Compound, has been her physician and salvation, and has accomplished more than all the skilled doctors this lady ever employed.

Women of Canada, we know that many of you are suffering as severely as Mrs. Kitchen once did. Thousands of you are experiencing some of her symptoms, which, if not attended to and speedily dispelled, will certainly lead to consequences as terrible as those described in the above letter.

Let us remind you that these troubles arise from an imperfect and disorganized condition of the nervous system. When the nervous system is deranged, the whole body is out of gear. Your weakness and frailties are well known to us, no matter how silently you may suffer. Those headaches, neuralgic pains, feelings of goneness, nervousness, despondency, tired brain, weak flabby muscles, sunken eyes with dark circles, and pallid cheeks, all tell of some ills and miseries. Paine's Celery Compound, used when any of the above symptoms are experienced, will certainly drive off all danger. Among the members of your sex it has proved a blessing; and Canadian women in all sections of our country have testified willingly in its favor.

Take warning before life is in actual danger. A week's delay may aggravate and complicate your malady and hasten your death. Act to-day, and act wisely.

Vigilant Care.

Vigilance is necessary against unexpected attacks of summer complaints. No remedy is so well known or so successful in this class of diseases as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Keep it in the house as a safe-guard.

THE CRY OF MILLIONS
OH, MY BACK!
STOP IT NOW,
SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.
I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when Providence sent Dr. Henley, with the OREGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days, I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.

LANDLORDISM AND PAUPERISM.

"Relative to the fact that 45 per cent. of England's rural laborers, who reach the age of 60, become chargable to the parish," "Grip" quotes the London, Ont., Advertiser, to this effect:

"It is unbelievable that utter failure should crown nearly half the hard-working lives of a nation as the result of shiftlessness, drunkenness or vice. The trouble, in some respects, arises from the landlord-made laws that have in the past diverted into the pockets of the controllers of the soil too large a slice of the receipts from the labor expended in its cultivation or in the mining of the under-surface minerals."

From this we are supposed to infer that landlordism is responsible for the large percentage of pauperism in England, and undoubtedly it is a contributing cause, but how many laboring men on this continent at sixty are not paupers? The Pacific Coast, since 1849, has offered unequalled opportunities to become independent to any man who was moderately frugal and saving in his mode of life, and yet it is doubtful if fifty per cent. at the time of their deaths left assets enough to pay their funeral expenses. This would make it appear, almost, as if civilization is a failure, and the Caucasian is "played out," for if it be true, or even approximately so, we are bound to infer that landlordism is not so bad after all. We are not defending landlordism. We believe it to be unjust, but we are bound to admit at the same time, taking the Pacific coast as our criterion, that as human nature is at present constituted, landlordism is a logical consequence. Everybody started equal on this coast; to-day landlordism is a prominent feature. What does this mean? It means just this, that the moral and mental limitations of men, even though their environment be favorable, condemns them to be hewers of wood and drawers of water, while 25 per cent. will achieve comparative independence, 15 per cent. moderate success, 10 per cent. power, either in the shape of immense wealth or intellectual pre-eminence. It is idle to think of the conditions portrayed by BELLAMY. Men will not have them. The intentions of men are good enough, but 50 per cent. seem to be too inherently weak to take advantage of their opportunities. The mission of the social reformer is not to innovate. The great mass of men are still but as infants, and have to be led. The mission of the social reformer is simply to prevent the strong from enslaving the weak, to see to it that no man is so heavily handicapped in the race of life that with ordinary energy and brains, he may lay aside enough to pay the expenses of his own funeral.

JUDICIAL "MOTHER HUBBARDS."

The Justices of the United States Court of Appeals have put on black silk robes, the same as worn by the Justices of the Supreme Court. The following are the comments upon the new dispensation by the American press. Says the Albany Times:

"The silk chosen for their uniform, or livery, or whatever it may be called, was very shiny and of a jet black color, and resembled nothing in the world so much as the plumage of a fat and sleek crow, so that the three judicial magnates sitting on the bench irresistibly reminded the spectators of a trio of corvine birds comfortably perched upon a bough overlooking a cornfield."

The New York Commercial Advertiser takes this view of it:

"After all, true dignity lies in the man himself. It cannot be put on or put aside with a garment. The English with their staid ways are apt to stand aghast at the free and easy methods of some of our judiciary—notably those of our mighty West. But the administration of justice is rather a matter of substance than of manner."

Boston thinks "robes" are the proper thing. Says the Boston News:

"The judges of the new United States Court of Appeals will, like the Supreme Court judges, appear in black gowns. This is a custom that should be introduced into all our courts, for the garb adds the dignity that is so much needed in American courts."

According to the Illinois State Register, Judge GRESHAM thinks differently. The Register observes:

"Judge Gresham is strenuously opposed to donning the new judicial robe which higher powers are disposed to compel him to assume. It is difficult to see how a funeral-hued Mother Hubbard adds to the dignity of a judge on the bench. The sympathy of the public is largely with Mr. Gresham on the issue cited."

All this seems like going backward. Most persons will agree with the Commercial Advertiser, that it is the man and not the gown that makes the judge.

"FONETIC" SPELLING.

In 1890, representative LAWLOR, of Illinois, introduced a resolution favoring the adoption of certain modified forms of spelling, and, observes the St. Paul Pioneer Press, had the resolution been adopted and its rules assimilated by the people at large, some few of the difficulties which beset foreigners and students in an attempt to master English orthography would have been removed. The resolution offered by Mr. LAWLOR orders the public printer to adopt the following six rules:

First. Drop "ue" at the end of words like dialogue, catalogue, etc., where the preceding vowel is short. Thus spell demagog, epilog, synagog, etc. When the preceding vowel is long as in prorogue, vogue, disembogue, retain final letters as at present.

Second. Drop final "e" in such words as definite, infinite, favorite, etc., when the preceding vowel is short. Thus spell opposit, preterit, requisit, hypocrit, etc. When the preceding vowel is long as in polite, finite, unite, etc, retain present forms unchanged.

Third. Drop final "te" in words like quartette, coquette, cigarette, etc. Thus spell cigaret, roset, epaulet, vedet, gazet, etc.

Fourth. Drop final "me" in words like programme. Thus spell program, oriflam, gram, etc.

Fifth. Change "ph" to "f" in words like phantom, telegraph, phase, etc. Thus spell alfabet, paragraf, filosofy, fotograf, etc.

Sixth. Substitute "e" for the diphthongs "æ" and "œ" when they have the sound of that letter. Thus spell eolian, esthetic, diarrhea, subpena, esofagus, atheneum, etc.

N.B. No change in proper names.

"These rules," continues the Press, "although they are strictly in accordance with the demands of 'fonetic' spelling, are not so startling, and do not involve such radical readjustment of habit as to make them at all impracticable."

It is a puzzle to those who daily have a tussle with English orthography why it is that words are not spelled as they are pronounced, the desideratum being meaning and not orthographical acrobatics, and the conclusion is about reached by the would-be reformer that it is the eye, the outward sense of what appears inartistic rather than the reason that prevents the desired simplification. Thus philosophy spelt "filosofy," although conveying precisely the same meaning, shocks the eye that has always been accustomed to see philosophy start off with p-h-i and end with p-h-y. Habit has become confirmed, philosophy spelt "filosofy" seems to degrade the meaning of the word; we are reminded of the backwoods.

The public eye is not yet able to contemplate the "bloomer" costume, nor the "divided skirt," with equanimity. In either of these costumes woman seems to have lost something which we regard inseparable from the sex. Just so with the changing the dress of words. "Fonetic" spelling seems to detract from their dignity. But all this is simply visual. The eye in a short time would accustom itself to the departure from old usage, the changed architectural construction of words, so to speak, and hypocrite spelt "hypocrit," would, in so far as the eye is concerned, convey the same meaning, have the same force that has the present circumlocutory method of spelling it. The reform is badly needed, not so much for the benefit of foreigners as on our own account.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Query—Now that THEO has got back will he fix the jurisdiction of Judge SPINKS?

The Hon. JOHN ROBSON will ask Mr. VAN HORNE to build a branch line from Ashcroft to Cariboo. Mr. VAN HORNE will probably build an expensive line of railway on the strength of Mr. ROBSON'S bare request; he is that kind of a man. We would not say anything to detract from Ashcroft's chances of getting a railway to Cariboo, but there would be more sense in asking Mr. VAN HORNE to co-operate with the Saanich Railway Company. This, however, is asking too much of the Hon. JOHN ROBSON. It would prove him a false prophet in respect of the future commercial development of Victoria.

Since, in our local columns yesterday, an extended notice was given of the Batavia and her cargo, and the prospects of the Upton line generally, recapitulation here is scarcely worth while. We would, however, call attention to the fact that the Batavia was drawing over 20 feet of water, and that while Victoria took 236 tons of her freight, Vancouver only took 24; this not as a reflection on Vancouver, but as a reflection on JOHN ROBSON, who is in the East "bearing" Victoria commercially. The Hon. JOHN ROBSON may be a prophet in Cariboo, but with those who know him, and who treasure up his prophetic utterances, the concensus of opinion is, that he has the narrowest vision for a seer of any man on this continent. "Coming events cast their shadows" behind the Hon. JOHN ROBSON.

The idea of a state within a state, as is implied by the projection of the Dominion of Canada into British Columbia, in the shape of the 40 mile railway belt, the projection not being amenable to provincial laws, is an anomaly and should be unceremoniously knocked on the head. But why not the British Columbia contingent concern themselves with it as well as Mr. ROBSON? It will strike most people that if the British Columbia contingent were half as deeply concerned for the interests of the Province as they are for the remission of the duty on sheep, it would not take long to effect valuable reforms.

Oregonian: Professor THOMAS R. PRICE, president of English literature in Columbia college, advises students to look to the editorial columns of the leading metropolitan dailies for the best style of English literature of the day. He says many editorial writers have "attained to unsurpassable skill in giving effective and artistic form to their sentences and paragraphs." Undeniably true as this is, there is still another reason why the student should read carefully the editorial pages of such daily papers as do not give their columns up entirely to political buncomb. The student who is a careful reader of the daily paper, will go out into the world at the end of his college career with a fund of information on a multitude of practical topics that can be acquired in no other way. It is the reader of the daily paper who is the best equipped for his work in life, no matter in what direction it may lie.

The Chicago Herald describes McKINLEY'S campaign in Ohio as a campaign "for vindication, with an evident determination to cheek it out." McKINLEY, in a speech at Columbus last Tuesday, declared that the Republican party has been right on every public question for the last 30 years, and further, that mankind had come to declare that it was right upon all these great questions. To this the Herald replies, that "no political leader since GREELY'S time has been so overwhelmingly repudiated.

"He was taken red-handed and summarily dealt with by an outraged and plundered people. His leadership of the Republican party caused the ignominious defeat of that organization in three-fourths of the states. His blind fanaticism, his subserviency to monopoly, his wicked surrender to the trusts and combines and his ignorant or criminal attempt to mislead and deceive the people brought upon himself and a host of his associates a rebuke so stinging that by men less audacious than he it will be remembered for all time."

The prospect of McKINLEY'S defeat in Ohio is very slim, but if he should be it will be the death knell of his tariff.

Lady MACDONALD'S letter to the Tory caucus will be lithographed, it is reported. If the Tories are wise they will save themselves the expense of lithographing this precious document of the relict of the deceased Premier, and for this reason: It is not the good, the loyal, and the disinterested that need admonishing, but the bad, the disloyal and the interested. Now the Liberals are supposed to exemplify these three last named qualities, therefore Lady MACDONALD'S epistle of admonishment to stand firm, be compact and true to Canada should have been addressed to LAURIER, CARTWRIGHT, et al. The outsider reading Lady MACDONALD'S epistle to the Tory caucus cannot help but conclude that it is being torn with internal dissensions and disturbed by private jealousies, which, of course, everbody knows is not the case. Why, then, should Lady MACDONALD presume to address the caucus as if every man in it was venal and disloyal? A caucus of honest men would resent a screed of this description. Lady MACDONALD'S epistle to the Tory caucus admits of no other inference than that Sir JOHN must have kept her exceedingly well posted.

A large number have signified their intention of grasping this opportunity to visit Port Angeles. The trip across the gulf is just long enough to be pleasant and as the people of Angeles intend to look after the visitors all should have a good time.

Progressing Satisfactorily.

Contractor Sinclair is again pushing work at the new outer dock. The wall is almost completed and the place is now being filled in. The piles for the wharf which is to extend 250 feet out from the wall, are being driven and capped and other work is progressing satisfactorily. If work around the wharves coutinues to increase as it has of late, the new dock will be badly needed.

At the Hill.

The national games of England, Canada and America were all being played at the Hill this afternoon. The eleven that is to battle with the Westminster Cricket Club, July 1st, were out practicing to try and do better than they did in the match against Vancouver. The Victoria Athletic club and the James Bays were battling in an interesting game of baseball and two junior lacrosse teams were playing that game.

Quite a long programme was presented, consisting of vocal and instrumental music and humorous recitations. Miss McDermid, the elocutionist, was present and delighted all with several of her inimitable productions. Miss Goddyn sang most charmingly, and Mrs. Bigelow's piano solos were rendered in her usual exquisite way. The I. O. O. F. orchestra discoursed, during the evening, strains of light music, to the enjoyment of all.

Enjoyment for Everybody.

Trains will leave Victoria as usual in the morning and the last train will not return until 8:58 in the evening, so that lots of time will be given those wishing an outing to enjoy themselves fishing, etc. The afternoon trains will run as follows: Leave Victoria 5:30, arrive at Wellington 9:29; leave Wellington 4:59, arrive at Victoria 8:58.

Crops at Ladner's.

A prominent farmer of Ladner's Landing, says the crops generally in that district look good but the cold month of April caused considerable loss in the yield of timothy which depreciated about one-fourth from last year. There is a splendid yield of clover, but the grain sown in April is backward while that sown in May is looking well. The root crop was greatly improved by the late rains.

The Teachers Complimented.

Inspector of Schools B. Wilson, and the other gentlemen who spoke at the High School yesterday afternoon, complimented Miss A. D. Cameron, teacher of the third division, on the way in which her pupils had succeeded in their examination, every one passing. Mr. Wilson said that it showed that the pupils had been intelligently taught. Mr. J. P. McLeod, the principal, and Mr. Offerhaus, the first assistant, were also highly spoken of.

The Nymphe Starts North.

The British warship Nymphe has got everything aboard and will proceed on her way to Behring Sea this evening. She will stop at Nanaimo for the U. S. warship Mohican, which is coaling there, and then they will go north together. This arrangement is particularly pleasant to Captain Turner of the Nymphe, as the captain of the Mohican and he are old personal friends, having laid in the harbor at Honolulu together for several months.

Reception to their Pastor.

The members of the First Presbyterian church gave a reception to their pastor, Rev. Donald Fraser, last evening, in honor of his return to his pastorate from a three months' holiday in Ontario. Rev. Mr. Reed acted as chairman of the meeting, and read an address of welcome. An interesting programme of vocal and instrumental music followed. Congratulations and refreshments were then in order, and everyone was given the opportunity to grasp the hand and speak to their pastor.

Lake District.

The public school closed here yesterday, with marked satisfaction to parents and pupils. The examination was a proof of application on the part of the pupils and thorough work by the worthy teacher. Master Chas. Bentley Jones passed direct from the school, and took a high place at the high school examination just ended. Addresses were given by the trustees and several of the pupils' parents, and the Rector of Cedar Hill, in his address, took occasion to refer to the many features by which the Lake school surpasses many others within his knowledge.

Entered into Partnership.

Mr. R. N. Begg, formerly of the Colonist, has entered into partnership with Mr. J. R. Kerr, of the Central Book and Stationery Store, Government street. Mr. Kerr, since he started in business has built up a splendid trade, which the new firm intend to increase by steady attention to business. Mr. Begg is well known as an enterprising and rustling business man, so he will be a splendid addition to the firm. They will have complete charge of J. K. Gill & Company's business in Canada, which is by no means a small one and which will give them a splendid chance in their business.

Fishing Sloops Released.

The two little sloops which Collector Milne seized a few days ago, belonging to the two alleged American fishermen, have been released. After a thorough examination of the men he came to the conclusion that they were cruising around in Canadian waters through ignorance of the custom laws and not with intent to commit any breach.

The men did not tell a very plausible story, and it was in the power of the collector to confiscate the boats, as has been done to a number of Canadian boats under similiar circumstances, but he released them and told them to get into United States territory as fast as the wind would drive them. The men proceeded to carry out his advice with alacrity, and they have learned a lesson that they will not soon forget.

Home for the Poor.

In the agreement between the Jubilee Hospital directors and the city council, re the taking over of the old French Hospital, it was stipulated that the directors should have the hospital put in order. This is being done now, carpenters having been put to work, and it is expected that a few days will see the old building in good order. Capt. Powers and several others have promised donations of $500 each towards the new Home, so that it is sure to be a big success. In several cases the old people that want a home are pretty well to do and will of course keep themselves, only wishing to have some one to care for them. The committee who have the management of the Home in hand will take a trip round in a few days to solicit subscriptions for the establishment and maintenance of the Home. They expect to have it opened next week.

Church Parade.

The Sons of St. George will assemble at their hall, Bastion street, at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning for the purpose of attending Divine service. They will march to St. John's Church where Rev. P. Jenn's will preach an appropriate sermon. The members will wear their regalia.

Chinamen $20 Richer.

While the stevedores were discharging the Batavia this morning one of them dropped a $20 gold piece which rolled into a group of Chinamen. The stevedore ran into the group after his coin but it had disappeared. Constable McNeil was called into requisition and he arrested one of the Chinamen whom he was told was the guilty party. He took the man to the Provincial lock-up and detained him until the matter could be sifted. McNeil found that there was no direct evidence against the Chinaman, and, as the Batavia was to sail to-night, he returned him to the steamer.

An Old Favorite.

The traveling public of Victoria were pleased to see that favorite old passenger steamer, the Olympia, lying at the Union Pacific wharf this morning. The Olympian has been idle now for some four months, and during that time has been thoroughly overhauled from stem to stern, and looks as bright and clean as a newly coined dollar. She will remain on the Victoria route about three months. She made the run from Tacoma here, including nearly three hours' delay, in 9 hours, and her officers confidently express the opinion that she can yet show her heels to any of the boats on the Sound. She is commanded by Capt. A. O. Anderson, with Mr. J. Burnes as first officer.

U.S. S. Alert's Captain Ill.

The U.S. warship Alert now laying off the outer wharf will have to go north without her captain. On the passage up from San Francisco, Captain Hitchcock was taken sick with kidney trouble and since the Alert's arrival here he has grown much worse. His physician said that it would not be safe for him to go with the vessel in his present condition, so after consultation with Consul Myers it was determined to take him to St. Joseph's Hospital. This morning the tug Alert went out to the ship and brought Captain Hitchcock ashore and he was then conveyed to the hospital in a carriage. Lieutenant Wainright is the next in command and he has received instructions from Washington to proceed in command of the vessel. She is expected to get away some time this evening.

Japanese Labor.

H. W. S. Edmunds has opened an agency to provide Japanese unskilled labor, and advertises that he is prepared to supply cooks, mill hands, cannery hands and servants at wages about equal to what is now paid to Chinese. The Japanese are certainly preferable to their Oriental cousins, the Chinese, and if Mr. Edmunds succeeds in supplanting the latter he will be doing the country some service. Already Mr. Edmunds has received orders for thirty or forty Japanese servants, principally for hotels now employing Chinamen, and next summer he expects to supply 400 or 500 to the canneries. Most of people would prefer to see the places of the Chinese taken by white men and women. During the last year or two the Chinaman has been compelled to give place to the Anglo-Saxon, especially where cheap labor was employed in the building trade, such as morter men and hod-carriers, and the result has been to the general benefit of the city. If it is impossible to supplant them entirely by white men, the introduction of Japanese, who readily adopt Canadian customs in many things, will possibly be a step in the desired direction.

A Dangerous Counterfeit.

The man who counterfeits a coin or a bank note, or who is detected in an attempt to pass a counterfeit is speedily placed in prison as a person too dangerous to be permitted to be at large. How much more dangerous is the person who, for the sake of paltry gain, endeavors to impose upon the public a dangerous and worthless counterfeit of a popular medicine. The great popularity achieved by Pink Pills, and the wonderful results that have followed their use for the treatment of all female complaints, nervous diseases, and general debility in both males and females, has induced some unscrupulous parties to place upon the market a worthless imitation, resembling the genuine Pink Pills in appearance only. The public are cautioned against these spurious imitations and are asked to see that every box they purchase bears the trade mark and name of The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., of Brockville, Ont. Do not permit any dealer to palm off upon you any imitation of the genuine pill, as not only will they not produce the expected results, but may prove positively harmful. No other pill made can produce the results obtained by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all dealers or sent post paid on receipt of price (50c. a box) by addressing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

NANAIMO.

Dr. Seward, the Celebrated Scientific Optician, of New York, Will Open His Office in the Windsor Hotel, Nanaimo, on Thursday Morning Next, July 2nd.

Prof. Bainbridge, the doctor's assistant, is now at Nanaimo, and those wishing to make appointments in advance can do so by calling on or addressing him at the Windsor Hotel. Appointments should be made as early as possible, so that the doctor can finish his work and meet his engagements in other cities. The work of this eminent scientific optician in the adjusting of glasses, fitting artificial eyes, cataract lenses etc., needs no special comment as his reputation is established throughout the entire Dominion. Although Dr. Seward's office at Victoria is crowded daily, yet he will keep his word and will positively be in Nanaimo on Thursday morning.

The doctor anticipated being in Nanaimo on Monday instead of Thursday, but on account of a number of difficult cases that have come in at the last moment, it is found to be impossible. He will, however, refuse to accept any more work in Victoria after Tuesday next at 3 p.m.

Stolen Boat Recovered.

Davidson Brothers reported a few days ago that they had lost a skiff and thought that it had been stolen. This morning Constable Hunter found it on Sea Bird Island and returned it to its owner. He could find no one there who would claim it, but as it was tied up it is to be presumed that it had been stolen.

QUESTIONABLE DOINGS.

TO THE EDITOR.—I see by the papers that the proprietor of the Bee Hive saloon gets quite a "send off." It must be gratifying to the I.O.O.F., who own the Bee Hive saloon property, to have their tenant making his mark in public. I understand that the society, known to be morally inclined, is not allowed by its constitution to admit saloonkeepers into their fellowship; still they do not seem at all opposed to renting their premises to such people, and use the proceeds, I suppose, for alleviating the wants of widows and orphans and elevating mankind. This is about on a par with the action of owners of houses on Broad street, who rent them knowingly for the purposes for which they are used. As to the rumor that some of these people had been given notice to vacate Sept. 1st., there is no truth in it. It pays too well.

LOOKER-ON.

THE WHOLE CLASS HAS BEEN AGAIN PROMOTED FROM THE THIRD DIVISION—MISS AGNES DEANS CAMERON, TEACHER.

TO THE EDITOR:—The above is part of your report of the promotion examinations held recently at the High School in this city. As a grateful parent, allow me to congratulate Miss Cameron on the splendid result of her faithful and energetic labors; the more commendable as I understand that it has been in spite of all possible retarding influences and the open malice of the Educational Department. This unprecedented success of Miss Cameron's teaching must be particularly gratifying to our city school trustees, who some time ago recognized her peculiar fitness for the position, and have sturdily maintained her in it. But notwithstanding that Miss Cameron has thus proved herself to be one of the most successful teachers in the Province, there is a danger that eventually the educational authorities will succeed in securing her dismissal. Hitherto the elective trustees have stood in the way, and have consequently been legislated out of existence to make way for appointees, who can be the more easily managed.

LIFE IN A BRITISH INN.

RACY PICTURE OF THE TORTURES OF A GUEST.

The Highest and Humblest Are Excellent, But the Average Inn Simply a Bar Annex—"Temperance" Hotels and Remote Village Inns Alone Furnish Comfort.

[Special Correspondence of the Times.]

LONDON, June 16.—There are two classes of inns in England and Scotland in which the guests find comfort. One class comprises the great hotels of such cities as London, Liverpool, Glasgow and Edinburgh, which have become comfortable, during the past quarter of a century, in proportion to their adoption of American hotel manners and improvements. The other class is the humble and simple hotels of remote villages, of almost unknown dales and glens, of bonnie old Scotch clachans, and of rose-embowered English hamlets, where one thanks God, if he have come by design or accident, for the tender repose and blessed rest to be found among them.

There is another class. Its inns are the hostels the average traveler, commercial or uncommercial, is compelled to patronize, and which lay in wait for the doomed tourist from Land's End to John o'Groat's. They are simply places where one for a necessary period resigns himself to captivity, surveillance and extortion. The unfeigned and tremendous surprise and indignation evinced at protest against either are elements of humor in the situation, if those may exist where there seems only opportunity for downright despair.

If you have come to the inn by carriage and been mulcted by the station porters for bringing your baggage to the door, by other porters who grab it and carry it to some other place, by other porters who now seize it and deposit it near your carriage, and by still other porters who assist the scornful coachman in getting things to rights and under way, or if you have walked and carried a portmanteau or two, and been haunted and taunted by street porters and urchins for your niggardness and efforts to destroy the customs of the country, you will find them all there—these slimy, slippery human tentacles of the concrete British inn devilfish—separate and distinct notifications of the life blood sappings you will be called upon in spirit and pocket to endure.

There is the landlord, riotous in obsequiousness, the landlady, beaming with smiles, but measuring your capacity for imposition with unerring accuracy; the head waiter, a superior foreign being, usually a German-French adventurer in full dress, who performs all offices with scorn, but now standing there with bland permissibility in his face for your coming trial; the porter and the second porter, who grin at you this once to ever after grind. "boots," that sodden, grimy slave who never sleeps and who is ever at war with all other souls within the place. "buttons," in uniform as to clothing, but in permanent gloom as to face, save when you arrive and he lights up with joy at the misery he alone can cause you; a half dozen odorous stablemen, who each watch their chance to leer and pull their forelocks at you in effort to establish secret recognition of what you may expect if you do not placate them; the barmaid, who knows you know, that it is she alone who supplies the awful voluminousness and minuteness of that inevitable bill, and who giggles and gyrates as she sees your own writhing recognition of what is to come, and a number of muscular cattle called chambermaids, who in a trice have settled the manner in which you shall be racked and wrecked within the precincts of the dank, clammy den to which you are certain to be consigned.

In a moment the cold realism of your situation has come. You are inside a low, dark, narrow hall, and alone. At one side is the bar, an affair constructed like an American railway station newsstand, which is shut out from sight whenever the barmaid wishes to yawn, the landlady desires to abuse her demifisse, or your own objurgations become too numerous and decisive. Opposite is the "Coffee Room," a long, low, cheerless place, with a long, low, cheerless table, spread with a cloth ever decorated with misplaced matter.

If you have the good fortune to finally get anything to eat in the place, you will have to partake of it with a blowsy tourist possessing one sofa, a drunken guest snoring upon another, a crowd of drovers, of politicians or of the constabulary or military, swigging ale or stout beside you, and the whole room as blue as a channel fog with the smoke of tobacco. Directly you are in the prisonlike hall. The head waiter is gone; the porter has grabbed your luggage and disappeared; "boots" and "buttons" have vanished; landlord, landlady and barmaid have been swallowed up in the inconceivable somewhere behind the bar; stablemen and chambermaids are whisked into undiscoverable retreats. Great, gloomy doors, black, moldy walls, hard, forbidding ceilings alone confront you.

You bang your knuckles against the bar window. Landlord, landlady or barmaid by and by appears, giving you a look of pained surprise, and then disappears. You call, "Porter!" "Boots!" "Buttons!" "Chambermaid!" There is not even a reproving glance now in answer. You call and bang some more. This time echo alone reproves you. Groping about the place you snatch at a bellcord big as your wrist, with a tassel as big as your head. This you tug at very violently. The clang and clamor of the bell, which you cannot locate, fill the whole place. The bar window comes up with a slam, goes down with a slam, and an expression of disgust and dismay is caught escaping between the slams. Then, peering up from dark stairways, and peering out of quickly opened doors, are seen faces full of grave surprise; you hear all about you exclamations of disgust and dismay; and in another instant all these faces are gone, and you are again alone. Then you talk out loud to yourself for a while in rude American words.

Determined to secure relief you timidly seek the "Coffee Room" "human warious." Everybody there is snoring. Then you attempt to descend stairs which you think must lead to where the servants ought to be. After you crash against sharp angles and fall in unexpected turns this attempt is abandoned. In desperate hope and courage you begin scaling the ascents to upper mysteries. You are more successful here, for, by following the stair railing, you can at least for some little time proceed. You go pretty high this way. Doubtful of where you are, you return a flight or two. Then you move stealthily through a dark, stuffy hall.

Like a sneak thief you try every door you find, listening with beating heart, for movements of vengeance from supposititious occupants. Your strained hearing catches the sound of footsteps. You suddenly pounce upon him and hold him as remorselessly as ever "Goody Blake" was clutched by "Harry Gill." The man says, "Lord bless us!" but does not seem very frightened. He probably knows what it is to be frequently surprised in the dark by desperate people. You demand with suppressed emotion to be led to your room. Lord bless us, yes, certainly; but you do not loosen your grip upon the individual. By and by you have penetrated the somewhere, and find yourself in a room that must be your room because you recognize some features of your luggage when falling over it.

But there you are at last, and what a room! Shades of past ages, how thy kindly wraiths are insulted by what is here in pretension, patching, mold and decay! One fears to use a drawer lest the furniture will crumble in pieces and dolorous spirits be unloosed. The washstand is propped; the bowl is cracked; the towel is as shredded as a politician's record. You can only sit in safety on the floor. You "tip" the man you have caught out of all reason, and shiveringly ask for a light and a fire. Lord bless us, yes, certainly—as to a light; but there must be a consultation about the fire. He departs and you stand there supported by hope and a compact, black atmosphere for a good half hour. He never returns. Another man does. This one brings one tiny candle faintly hinting of light, and disclosing the extraordinary necessity for light. You suggest that you will need more. He is appalled. But you pledge your ability to pay for two, or even three candles, if all are burned together. That may be admitted, but the innovation is too much. You fee this new man. Lord bless us, yes, certainly; he will see. He goes away and never returns. You take your candle and make a little trip around the echoing halls, but you find no one.

Then you return to your room, find the bellcord, and enliven the hostelry for a long time with doleful tollings, janglings and impetuous staccatos of a remote but strong toned bell. By and by another man comes, as if in doubtful attentiveness, and seems anxious to know if you have really rung. You endeavor to make it clear that you have, and why you have; and you fee him and say, "My good fellow!" and "There's a man!" and other friendly things. This one goes and stays, like the rest. You begin on the bell again, or, thoroughly reckless and desperate, rush to your door and yell; yell as one will yell when the limit of human patience is reached.

In a moment they are all there—all the pack of persecutors who first gave you welcome. You address them in unmistakable language. They are surprised, pained, humiliated at your extraordinary conduct. But by a frank statement that unless a fire of coals is put in your grate you will utilize the unjointed sections of furniture for that purpose, and unless you are furnished enough candles you will make a pyre of the inn itself for light with which to get out of it, you are eventually provided with what you want—by two or three other people who have been lying in wait for this very denouement, these only submitting to accommodate you after their palms have been crossed with silver, like the bad old witches of the story books.

In every other act or fact about the British inn there is the same hopeless stubbornness. Once within it you must resign yourself soul and body to indescribable delay, inattention and every conceivable affront and incivility. The guest is a creature to be plucked, bullied and pillaged. To these beings with wooden heads and straw hearts, who do not "keep" them, but are kept by them, civility is unknown; comfort is unheeded; innovation is treason, and dynamite lurks in all suggestions of improvement.

It would be captious and dishonest to assert that there are no pleasant exceptions; but any one who has traveled much in England and Scotland knows that the above picture is a true one of nine-tenths of those inns the average wanderer finds in the average English and Scottish town or village. Acquaintance in every place visited would, no doubt, reduce one's percentage of misery. But as you are compelled to know it, in passing rapidly from place to place, the entire system is one of grab-and-pluck. The bar is the British innkeeper's god. He has no pride in his house and the entertainment he might give.

If your bill for liquors is likely to four or five times exceed that for bed and board, you are tolerated and even coddled. If you have something to do besides guzzle you may as well understand first as last that you are not wanted, and will not be decently treated. In nine-tenths of all British inns there is not a public room—and they are all notoriously tiny and close—where the fumes and smoke of liquor and tobacco do not form a dense and awful pillar of cloud and fire by night and day. The inn is absolutely the bar annex here.

But there is hope for the traveler in England and Scotland in two directions. If one will make a rule of patronizing only the temperance hotels, or of hunting out the humblest and most insignificant inn that can be found in the place of arrival, my word for it, a clean bed, a fairly comfortable room and the best attention and service to be had in this country will in nearly all cases be secured. The temperance hotels of our own country are as a rule only fit places for self mortification or suicide. Here they are the only places where one can secure any manner of adequate entertainment.

In Wales, in the English lake district, in some portions of the sleepy old hamlets of the English midland shires, and in many of the characterful villages of Scotland, you will come upon little hostels that are half inn and half home. They are straggling, one story structures, with sway back, moss covered roofs, and huge eaves and chimneys, and are nearly always half hidden beneath ivy, roses and flowing vines. They are rich in that sweet and unctuous reminiscential life of the old stage coaching days, and, provided with numberless nooks, crannies, cupboards and delightful corners, are each a labyrinth of quaintness and repose.

Personally, in my wayside trampings, this sort of dreamful old Scottish nest has been found the most delightful. By the peat blaze of its cavernous fireplace, in the presence of scones white as a dove's wing, bacon crisp and brown, an omelet as yellow as a frost painted beech leaf, a jug of cream sweet as a nut kernel, a fragrant brewing of tea in the delf pot under the "cosey," and a guidwife bustling about in a sort of cheery frenzy to make you welcome, you have reason to thank British "conservatism" that these few olden gentle places still remain.

"THE WORLD DO MOVE!"

And at such a lively pace too. Takes you all your time to keep up with it. Old times are having a hard time—Stupidity dies hard.

E. B. Eddy's Indurated Fibre Ware has completely killed The Old Wooden Bucket, so sweet to sing about in connection with the moss-covered well, but To Smell! A very Abomination.

Gone, thank goodness. No more vile odors. No more hoops to fly off. No more leaky Pails and Tubs. No more misery for chambermaids. This ware is always sweet as the first kiss of love, but, unlike love, sweet all the time. Wouldn't smell a mite in 20 years—wouldn't shrink a particle in a life-time. Indestructible—impervious to liquids.

EDDY'S INDURATED FIBRE WARE

This ware is made of wood pulp and moulded into Vessels of every description. ALL IN ONE PIECE.

Before Eddy's Indurated Fibre Ware the old many-pieced, frail-hooped, ill-smelling, badly-leaking, heavy wooden-ware travels to that bourne from whence it will never more return.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

Trade Generally Quiet in the States—Sugar in Canada Drops Two Cents.

NEW YORK, June 27.—With few exceptions, special telegrams to Bradstreet's, from the more important trade centers, report a continuance of midsummer quiet in general circles. Chicago, St. Louis, St. Paul and Omaha are the noteworthy exceptions. Hardware, clothing, notions, nails, wire, and some lines of dry goods, showing the effects of an enlarged demand. Elsewhere dullness and quiet are conspicuous in leading lines, notably, at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, Memphis, and San Francisco. Kansas City announces fair trade with collections slow. More southern iron furnaces in blast have depressed pig iron prices in the east. Lumber stocks tend to increase at all the centres and prices are heavy; leather is heavier, particularly at Boston, owing to failures of importance. Notwithstanding the fair demand for boots and shoes, eastern makers' stocks are increasing. At Omaha, fat cattle are higher and other trades as well as hogs are lower in prices. Bank clearings at 58 cities, for the week ending, June 25, amount to $940,220,538, a decrease from this week last year of 16.5 per cent. Stock speculation at New York is at a standstill, although a renewal of heavy gold exports, amounting to $5,700,000 for the week, causes a further decline in prices, and overcomes the favorable influence of the crop prospects. Dry goods generally are quiet at first hands. Raw cotton is unchanged in price, though there are better foreign advices and some investment buying. Wool is slow. The exports of wheat (and flour as wheat) from both coasts of the United states, for 52 weeks, as reported to Bradstreet's, equal 98,253,070 bushels. The price of wheat has tended downward during the week under pressure of favorable crop reports, smaller foreign takings and reduced speculative demand at home.

In the Canadian Dominion, the tariff changes though not unexpected, have proved the feature, granulated sugar prices being two cents lower, tobacco five cents higher, and liquor prices also higher. Wholesale dealers in sugar report a brisk trade. The crop prospects are excellent. In Manitoba the wheat acreage is 170,000 acres larger than last year. Fully 250 miles of railway are under construction in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories. The Dominion reports 31 business failures this week, against 27 last week and 17 this week last year. The total number from January 1st to now is 969, against 860 last year.

Make an exception in favor of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Its known virtues as a cure for diarrhœa, dysentry, cholera morbus, and all bowell complaints cause all who use it to regard it as the most reliable remedy obtainable.

Nature requires aid in correcting irregularities at this season, and for both men and women no other remedy equals Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a spring blood tonic. They supply all the constituents necessary to enrich the blood and build up the system. Commence to Enjoy Themselves.

All the teachers and pupils of the city schools are now enjoying their well earned holidays, and picnics and other out door amusements will be the order of the day. This morning the teachers and pupils of the High School boarded the Young America bus and enjoyed a pleasant drive to Cordova bay. At this perfect picnic ground the young folks spent the day, some on the beach, while the more hardy climbed to the summit of Mount Tolmie. The woods along the shores of the Arm will all ring with the merry voices of the young folks every day hereafter as all the picnics planned during the past term have to take place.

King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM J. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

HAVE NOT LOST A SINGLE DAY
